DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: "saidamorphous".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5 & 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yamazaki et al. (USPAP 2002/0004292).

Yamazaki et al. discloses a laser annealing apparatus and a method of annealing an amorphous silicon film. Laser light is generated and emitted from a source and then split. The split laser light is used to irradiate the front (primary beam) and the back (secondary beam) of the amorphous semiconductor film. This is shown in figures 3 and 18. It can be seen that the primary beam has a shorter path length than the secondary laser beam. An excimer laser may be used as the laser source. Additionally, an optical system may be used to generate harmonics. Photomasks may be used to generate predetermined patterns. The light source optical system is made up of a light source, an optical system, a reflector, a lens array, a polarization converting element and a condenser lens. (abstract, figures, 0005, 0049, 0061, 0063, 0104, 0128, 0129, 0180)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6-11 & 13-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamazaki et al., as stated in the above paragraph and further in view of Jung (USPN 6,825,493).

Yamazaki et al. does not teach (i) a photomask with a stripe pattern, (ii) a lens disposed on the optical path in front of the photomask and (iii) annealing amorphous silicon films in regions.

Jung discloses a silicon crystallization method which uses a photomask having a stripe pattern (38) and a condenser lens (40) is in front of the photomask. Figure 9b shows a striped crystallization pattern.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use a striped photomask, a lens in front of the mask and annealing regions as taught by Jung in the Yamazaki et al. apparatus and process because these are merely variations of silicon recrystallization using laser annealing.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See US PTO-892.
